Q-Poll: New Yorkers Zone Out Congestion Pricing

Voters from New York City and its suburbs strongly oppose the unsustainable, unfair, inequitable & regressive toll-tax scheme known as Congestion Pricing according to a Q-Poll release today Thursday, February 15, 2018. The Quinnipiac University Poll City voters oppose tolling their East River bridges by a dozen points (54-42%) and suburban voters by 19 points (57-38%). The poll also found that “non-white voters oppose congestion pricing 56 - 38 percent.”

Clearly the public recognizes Congestion Pricing aka East River Tolls aka Zone Pricing as a policy idea that fails here in just about every way:

- *Fails to ease congestion
- *Fails to raise SUSTAINABLE revenue
- *Regressive
- *Inequitable
- *Unfair

This polling demonstrates that New Yorkers reject ideologically-driven scheming to impose this regressive, unsustainable, unfair, inequitable toll-tax. Clearly time for policy makers to look favorably on the sustainable reforms Keep NYC Free and others recommend.
